A black and white photograph capturing a dramatic architectural space. A massive, smooth, curved concrete wall dominates the upper portion of the frame, its surface catching some light. Below it, a wide, polished concrete floor reflects the ambient light. On the left, a set of wide stone steps leads up to a landing, flanked by a simple black metal railing. To the right of the stairs, a large, white, curved architectural element, possibly a ceiling or a large-scale sculpture, extends across the room. In the background, through an opening in the concrete wall, a bright, modern interior with large windows and a minimalist design is visible. On the concrete wall to the left of the stairs, there is some small, faint text that appears to read "YOUR STORIES HAPPEN". On the wall above the stairs, there is a larger sign that reads "GALLERIES TERRACE SHOP BAR".
